FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Kentico Deliver Now! Introduced

Nashua, New Hampshire, USA, March 15, 2011 – Kentico Software (<http://www.kentico.com>), the Web content management system vendor, announced today the release of the Deliver Now! Deliver Now! is an expert and detailed guidance for successful and rapid implementation of your enterprise-level Kentico CMS websites.

"Kentico's Deliver Now! Methodology provides enterprise development teams with expert guidance in planning, implementation and deployment of websites with Kentico CMS. The methodology includes step-by-step procedures, architectural best practices and checklists that help teams make the right decisions. Our goal is to help customers and partners deliver projects on time and on budget." said Petr Palas, CEO and founder of Kentico Software.

"In addition to extensive reviews by Kentico developers, testers and customer support, we reviewed the Deliver Now! Methodology with our existing customers and partners. The result is detailed information that will help to ensure the delivery of a successful Kentico CMS website", said Karol Jarkovsky, the Sr. Solution Architect at Kentico Software and the principal author of the Kentico Deliver Now!

"It was a really excellent idea to create something like this. Easy to read and understand. Kentico Deliver Now! pulls together lots of separate ideas/threads into one place", said Saul Sheehan, Developer at Nucleus Ltd.

"We found Kentico Deliver Now! as a great reference that is extremely helpful for our staff. And the checklists are a welcome and useful tool", said Denise Dreher, Information Systems Administrator at The Center for Victims of Torture.
